

You have the national income of a country like Portugal. You have the population of a country like Slovakia or Finland. I see no reason why Scotland can't take its own place as a proud independent nation.

Mark Littlewood Director General of the Institute of Economic Affairs

4 years ago waiting in Germany nervously hoping for a 'No' vote. Our families were split on the subject. I believed the spin. I was so wrong. Take courage Yessers, people can change their mind. I did.
